

ORP (Oxidation-Reduction Potential) Test Results

Oxidation is the matter's tendency to oxidize (such as steels rusting, or cut apple turning brown), where as the Reduction is the opposite of oxidation. Greater the positive (+) measurement indicates stronger Oxidation property, while greater the negative (-) measurement indicates stronger Reduction property. Water with high reduction potential is known to have smaller molecular clusters, thus promoting better absorption and preventing water retention in the stomach.